

Steering Stabilizers

A steering stabilizer is basically a shock absorber for your steering system. It allows unrestricted gradual movement, but resists sudden shock. Stabilizers also combat other forces that induce tire shimmy, such as larger / heavier tires and wheels, and slack in your suspension and steering systems that occurs from normal wear. Some vehicles are factory equipped with a stabilizer, but like most stock shocks, they are barely adequate. Look for leakage where the shaft meets the cylinder body. Factory replacement cylinders, single kits and dual kits are offered. Some stabilizer kits include the boot others do not look at the specific manufactures details below for what is included.

Pro Comp Steering Stabilizer kits

Pro Comp's stabilizer kits are sold separately. If there's only one part number listed, it is a stabilizer only. If there are two part numbers, the upper one is the stabilizer, and the lower one is the bracket and hardware. You will need both to mount it on your truck. Shock boots are sold separately.

HD OEM Steering Stabilizer Kit

The HD OEM is a replacement Heavy Duty steering stabilizer that will install on a vehicle that has a factory stabilizer on the vehicle, and you only need to upgrade the cylinder only.

Skyjacker Steering Stabilizer kits

If your truck or SUV already has a factory stabilizer you can upgrade to a Heavy Duty OEM (HD OEM) Replacement Stabilizer Kit for improved handling. All kits come with stabilizer, boot, bracket, and hardware. If you prefer a silver finish, change the beginning number in the part number to a nine. (e.g. SKJ 7140 would be SKJ 9140)

Single Steering Stabilizer kit

The single kit is a heavy duty steering stabilizer with brackets to mount it onto that specific vehicle. Usually for vehicles that do not have a factory steering stabilizer.

Rancho Steering Stabilizer kits

The Rancho steering stabilizer and bracket is sold separately. The upper part number and price is the stabilizer and boot, and the lower is the bracket and hardware. You will need both to mount it on your truck.

Duel Inline Steering Stabilizer kit

The Duel inline kit is a pair of steering stabilizers with mounting brackets these work great for vehicles with 35" or larger tires.

Trailmaster Steering Stabilizer kits

The Trailmaster single steering stabilizer kits include a stabilizer, boot, bracketry, and hardware. The HD OEM kits include only the stabilizer and boot.

Duel Steering Stabilizer kit

The Duel kit is a parallel mount and also works great for tires larger than 35".

OME Steering Stabilizer kits

The OME steering stabilizer is a replacement stabilizer and does not include bracketry or hardware. These stabilizers come with a steel can and do not require a boot.
